Records Retention and Disposal Schedule (RRDS)

Our Records Retention and Disposal Schedule has been created to support council staff and elected members in the areas of Records Management, Data Protection, Freedom of Information, the Public Records (Scotland) Act 2011 and the Local Government (Scotland) Act.

Our RRDS has been developed to tell you the types of records, known as record series, that are required to be kept for your area of the business, and for how long. It brings together the records series and relevant retention information from all departments into one single document called our RRDS.

This schedule applies to any particular format that your records and information may come in (for example, paper, Electronic Document Records Management System (EDRMS) and our IT business systems).

Any records and information which have a dedicated retention and disposal life cycle as shown in this document, must be managed in accordance with our schedule. Any backup copies that you may have, which are stored on alternative media formats, for example, a server/microfilm/paper copy, should also be managed and disposed of at the appropriate time, as outlined in this schedule.

It is vital that you comply with this RRDS in managing your information to meet the requirements of the Data Protection and Freedom of Information legislation, and the Public Records (Scotland) Act 2011. We will also hold an audit trail of all records and information that have been disposed of to help monitor compliance.

If you have any records that need to be preserved indefinitely, as they are an important, unique source of evidence and information about the nature of our business and activities, then you should phone the City Archives department in Glasgow Life on 287 2908.

For more information on our City Archives read 'Appraisal and Disposal Policy – Preserving the Archival and Historic Memory of Glasgow' which can be found on Connect.

Objectives of the Schedule

The aims of our RRDS are to:

- assist staff and elected members in identifying records that may be worth preserving permanently as part of our archives
- prevent the premature destruction of records and information that need to be retained for a specified period to satisfy legal, financial and other requirements of public administration
- provide consistency for the disposal of records and information not required permanently after specified periods
- promote improved records management practices within the council.

Transfer of Information to Archival Storage

- Staff and elected members wishing to transfer permanent records to our City Archives should contact the Glasgow Life Archivist's Department on 287 2908
- The Data Protection Act provides an exemption for certain information held about living individuals. Information held for research, statistical or historical purposes can be held indefinitely, provided specific requirements are met.
- Records no longer required for administrative use may still retain sensitive information. Please inform the Archivist of any sensitivity when you transfer the material to the archives. You should also agree an appropriate closure period, which complies with Freedom of Information legislation and our policy.

Disposal of Records and Information

- Where there is the possibility of litigation, you should not amend or dispose of any records and information that are likely to be affected until the threat of litigation has been removed.
- When you use the schedule to help you identify records and information which needs to be disposed of, you will need to complete a Document Destruction Log Sheet for any information held in a paper format that you are getting rid of. For any paper records which are not listed in the schedule, please phone Kenny Meechan, Asset Governance Manager on 287 4517 for advice how to dispose of them. Please note that you will need to keep enough details to identify which paper records you have destroyed.
- If you have any records and information held in our EDRMS which you identify for disposal, the system will generate what is called a disposition report. This report will be sent to the Records Officer Group for that particular information and they will take the necessary action.
- If you have any records and information held in other electronic formats, for example microfilm, and you have identified that it needs disposed of, you will need to manage this process manually. Please take the necessary steps to delete and record that you have disposed of the information in the appropriate timescales.

Amendments to the Schedule

- Any requests for amendments to this RRDS should be forwarded to Kenny Meechan, Asset Governance Manager, for review, approval and implementation. This is necessary to ensure that any amendments do not conflict with professional or statutory regulations or guidance.

This Records Retention and Disposal Schedule has been authorised by our Corporate Management Team and is owned by the Central Information Team.
